Mrs. Bata with Wilf Wilkinson and Stuart Wright at Loyalist College

Mrs. Bata Speaks at Loyalist College Graduation

“Look at the future with confidence,” said Mrs. Bata during her Convocation address. “It is up to you to shape your life. Take initiative and be an entrepreneur. You as an individual can make changes by taking interest in global affairs and trying to add value to society. Your College education taught you how to learn and how to increase your knowledge. Education can never be taken away from you.” In recognition of her lifelong passion for design excellence, her focus and advocacy as a community leader, and her vision and leadership in innovative projects including the Bata Shoe Museum and the work of the Batawa Development Corporation, she was presented with an Honorary Diploma, the College’s highest academic tribute.

Artisans + Alpacas = Success!

25 vendors, more than 150 guests, and 3 alpacas came to Batawa to take part in this year's Craft Fusion Spring Sale & Showcase. The alpacas attended with a fleece station, where patrons could learn about the process of fleece production before heading inside to see (and buy!) the finished product. The event was a great success! The winner of the gift basket (with one item from each vendor) was Carol Soucier of Brighton (pictured here with Community Development Coordinator Judi Clark). Thanks to everyone who made this a success! The Sale will return in November, offering gifts and goodies for Christmas.
